GENERAL DESCRIPTION

Land of Enchantment Ranch comprises 12,700± deeded acres of exceptionally private contiguous land in a stunning stretch of Northern New Mexico. This ranch lies just west of Interstate 25 and borders the eastern edge of Santa Fe National Forest. The ranch is situated northeast of Santa Fe and southwest of Las Vegas, New Mexico, near the small village of Tecolote and easily accessible from Interstate 25. Santa Fe and Santa Fe Regional Airport are only an hour's drive from the property. Additionally, Albuquerque and the Albuquerque International Sunport are roughly two hours away. Well-maintained roads run throughout the fully fenced property. The proximity to untouched public lands, as well as access to supplies and amenities, mean this ranch is primed for immediate enjoyment. The ranch features superior water resources, especially considering the region and climate. Tres Hermanos Creek runs through the western side of this property. Additionally, the land includes wells, springs, stock ponds, small seasonal lakes, and seasonal creeks flowing through the numerous drainages and canyons throughout the landscape. All this water supports Ponderosa pine forests throughout the property, piñon pine and intermittent tall grasses, and many varieties of flowering and towering cacti. With elevations ranging from 1,000 to 3,000 feet, the topography offers a significant amount of pastureland and forested land alike, with terrain that varies from high mesas to valleys to low canyons and creeks.

The previous ownership group's focus on forestry management, as well as their thoughtful water development practices, have made a significant impact in terms of attracting wildlife to this property. Migrating wildlife adds intrigue and activity to this wild land, and there have been numerous bear and mountain lion sightings over the years. What's more, the ranch participates in New Mexico's EPlus system and is currently allocated unlimited elk tags annually.

Current building improvements include a stone residence and outbuildings constructed almost entirely from materials sourced on the land itself, representing the local culture and era of the region. Abundant premier building sites are located throughout the property. Land of Enchantment Ranch offers the opportunity to take ownership of an exceptionally private parcel of land larger than Manhattan, situated in a charming area of northern New Mexico.

ACREAGE

The Land of Enchantment Ranch comprises 12,700± deeded acres. The property lies in a scenic area of northern New Mexico, where hills and peaks are balanced by canyons and meadows, thick with Ponderosa and pinyon pine forests, as well as pastureland primed for grazing wildlife.

CLIMATE & ELEVATION

Land of Enchantment Ranch receives a pleasant combination of warm sunny days and cool, rainy weather. Summer temperatures can rise into the 80s, while winter temps dip into the 20s. The elevation ranges from 1,000 feet to over 3,000 feet. Nearby, Las Vegas, New Mexico, reports approximately 17 inches of annual precipitation yearly. Because the property abuts the Santa Fe National Forest, summer storm clouds move from west to east and pour a disproportionate amount of rain onto the Land of Enchantment Ranch. Thus, the area bursts with vibrant green vegetation throughout the spring and summer.

● IMPROVEMENTS

The ranch includes an eye-catching residential headquarters. Constructed from stone and lumber sourced on the property itself, the residence represents the culture and beauty of the surrounding area. The two-bedroom, two-bathroom residence occupies 2,172± square feet. Originally built in 1925, the home was remodeled in 1997.

Today, the original home and the remodeled addition are connected by a breezeway and surrounded by an enclosed flagstone courtyard complete with a fire pit and a whirlpool hot tub. The house features new gutters, and a backup generator provides power to the entire compound. Nearby, a garage matches the residence in style and material. Additional buildings include a secure storage house, a barn, and a shop. It's all move-in ready, with plenty of flexibility for enhancement. Ranch hands currently live just five minutes outside the property lines. All improvements have been exceptionally well-maintained, from the residence to the outbuildings to the nearby dog run. A new owner can move right in and even continue building on the many prime building sites with exceptional views of Hermit's Peak to the north.

WILDLIFE RESOURCES

Located in Game Management Unit 46, the ranch is a haven for migrating wildlife populations including elk, deer, bear, mountain lion, turkey, and small game species, along with a tremendous amount of migratory bird species. The ranch participates in New Mexico's EPlus system and currently offers unlimited elk tags annually.

Migratory wildlife populations are prevalent throughout the ranch in later seasons. Selective thinning has been accomplished through the use of a masticator to enrich the soil and create more forage for wildlife and seasonal livestock grazing. In addition, alfalfa and perennial food plots have been planted in strategic locations. The current ownership group and management have prioritized thoughtful forest and wildlife management, along with savvy water development practices, in order to enhance the natural habitat and attract wildlife to the property.

RECREATIONAL CONSIDERATIONS

Recreational opportunities abound on the Land of Enchantment Ranch. With well-maintained roads throughout the property, it's possible to explore every corner of the ranch. The pleasantly varied terrain is ideal for hiking, birdwatching, and even camping out on the property's established campground. For hunters, this property (located in GMU 46) currently offers unlimited elk permits. Closer to Las Vegas, Storrie Lake provides summer boating and fishing recreational attractions, with its location just northwest of the city. Just southeast of the city of Las Vegas, the Las Vegas National Wildlife Refuge and the State-owned McAllister Lake within the refuge provide significant open space and recreational benefits.

● TAXES

Any and all seller-owned water rights appurtenant to the property are included in the sale.

MINERAL RIGHTS

COMMENTS

Land of Enchantment ranch is aptly named after New Mexico's state motto, "The Land of Enchantment." The size, location, proximity to Santa Fe, adjacency to Santa Fe National Forest, and the land's contiguous nature make this ranch very appealing. It is fair to say that nearly any ranch that is an hour's drive from a destination location and private FBO is highly desirable. This ranch presents a unique opportunity to acquire a private, large, deeded acreage land mass with good internal road infrastructure, suitable wildlife habitat, good internal water resources, and not overdeveloped in terms of buildings. Additionally, the land is a good combination of grasslands, canyons, drainages, tree cover, strategically positioned surface water, and is easily accessible. While large acreage ranches, coupled with a short supply of inventory, remain a challenge in the ranch real estate market, New Mexico is a state that still presents good value on a per acre basis comparatively speaking to other western states.
